4- Reading Comprehension

Read the following passage and answer the questions as required.

5 Man must have water for himself and for the animals that live near him. He naturally makes his home somewhere near a source of water. Water is more important to man than gold or coal. He also needs food several times a day to keep himself strong and a place in which he can be safe from danger while he is sleeping. Therefore, he must have enough space both to grow his food and to build a house. The human body keeps a fixed temperature and a wonderful power to make itself suitable for different weather conditions. However, man doesn't usually live at very high or very low temperatures. His need for a special range of temperature isn't as important as his need for food or water, but it still makes him dependent on nature.

1- According to the passage, the most important need for human is .....

- a) water                      b) food                      c) temperature                      4) coal

2- Man must have enough space to .....

- a) find water for himself
b) grow food and build a house

c) keep himself strong

d) make himself suitable for different weather conditions.
